Reaction occurred in breast fed baby. Mother had been taking Prozac from about the second week of his life. It took about 2-3 months before hyperglycaemia resolved after cessation of maternal Prozac. Thorough investigation for causes of insulin resistance and for diabetes mellitus. Baby did not have any auto-antibodies to insulin or islet cells, and none of his other endocrine investigations revealed a cause for the hyperglycaemia. The dosage start and stop date is not necessarily accurate but indicates that start and stop occurred sometime during the month.
